FORTY MAKE STRAIGHT SCORES IN GRAND AMERICAN HANDICAP. Twenty Rounds Decided at Interstate Park

in a Rainstorm - Many Well-Known Shooters Miss Early in the Contest-Sloan Loses Fifteenth Bird -Fox's Clever Exhibition. In a drizzling rainstorm that lasted all day 201 pigeon shooters battled yesterday for the money prizes of the Grand American Handicap. There were 222 entries, several having been made at the last minute, and the total amount to be divided among the lucky ones is $5,360. The rain yesterday was not as heavy as on the previous day, when the competition had to be postponed, but it fell incessantly and made every one uncomfortable. The contestants did not have to do much to kill their birds, because their feathers were so wet they could not fly well As a result there were forty who had killed twenty straight at the end of the day. The sheeting began early and was rushed along as fast as possible by the managers because they want to eatch up in the programme. It is expected that the twentyfifth round will be finished by 11 o'clock this morning. Then those who are tied will shoot off, and early in the afternoon the Consolation

All the traps were used, so four rounds were shot at once. At the end of the fourth round there were 132 who had killed all their birds, there were 132 who had killed all their birds, at the end of the eighth round there were 99 straight scores, at the end of the twelfth round here were 71 and at the end of the sixteenth round there were 54. Interest of course centred in the work of the cracks. H. D. Bates, last year's winner, did well until the sixteenth round, when he lost a driver. Mayor T. A. Marshall of Keithsburg, Ill., winner of two handicaps, lested only one round longer than Bates. He missed his seventeenth bird, a right quarter, and gave up hopes of having a third victory to his credit. J. A. R. Elliott, who is shooting from the thirty-two-yard mark, lost his sixth the thirty-two-yard mark, lost his sixth bird, Capt. Money missed his ninth, Tom Morfey let his sixth and seventh get away, and Harold Money, the amateur champion.

and Harold Money, the amateur champion, ost his eighth.

Tod Sl. an was in fine form. Round after round he grassed his bird, but he struck a little hard luck in the fifteenth round when he drew a fast right quarterer and it got away unharmed. This made the little lockey join the second division. Phil Daly, Jr., says he is not superstitious, but after the shoot had ended for the day he thought a little. His number is thirteen and he missed his thirteenth bird. He says he will never shoot with that number again.

The most consistent work of the week so far has been done by A. H. Fox of Baltimore. He has taken part in every shoot and got a share of the money each time. He has missed only one bird and has killed 122 out of 123. Last year he killed more than any other man during the week, and now any other man during the week, and now he is regarded as being dangerous in the big-event. Edward Banks, the popular Secre-tary-Treasurer of the association, is also in good form and is one of the forty with a straight score.

IN THE BASEBALL WORLD. Players Finding Fault With the New Rules

-Pitcher Carrick Calls on Freedman.

Ball players all over the country are testing the new rules. The members of the Pittsburg team at Hot Springs say that the foul ball clause will injure the batting to such an extent that the leading batsmen of the National League will have an average of not more than 300. The Brooklyn players say that not only is this rule, but the one that allows the pitcher to hit a batsman without the latter taking his base, a big "Father Bill" Daly's Horses Win Three Races at Bennings.

Washington, April 4.—The only thing of interest at the Bennings track this afternoon was the fact that "Father Bill" Daly's horses captured three races. His first win caine in the second race. Dolce Far Niente was a prohibitive favorite at 1 to 9. When the flag fell Carroll D, shot to the front and led under prossure, may rescend it.

under pressure, may rescind it.

The New Yorks were again unable to play out of doors yesterday. Carrick, last year's star pitcher, arrived in town in the morning and called on Freedman. Carrick said that while he had not signed a Washington American League contract, $6.000 had been placed to his credit in a bank to be drawn by him if he would play with that clubfortwo years. Freedman offered to Carrick a raise of $900 in salary, but the pitcher refused to sign a contract. He had a talk with Manager Davis later in the day.

Charlotte, N. C., April 4.—The Brooklyns were favoredto-day with warm spring weather and the players put in five good hours practising on the diamond. The morning hours were devoted to batting and in the afternoon the twirlers, Kennedy, Donovan and Steelman, warmed up. No lameness or soreness has yet developed among the players, though they have husled about pretty lively. The new men begin to show improvement at each practice and Hanlon highly praises their work. Jimmy McJames, who pitched for Hanlon's Baltimore team in 1898, stopped over here to-day on his way to his home in South Carolina. Hanlon tried to induce him to join the Brooklyns but Mac said his parents objected strongly against his ever playing professional ball again. He saw the boys practise and said they showed up splendid for so early in the year. Hanlon is trying to arrange for several exhibition games on his way north besides the two games he has scheduled with Norfolk.

Owing to conflicting dates and later arrangements Columbia's baseball schedule has been revised and sanctioned by the Faculty Committee. The game with West Point scheduled for June 1 has been cancelled, the Manhattan game transferred from May 1 to May 15 and a third game arranged with Pennsylvania to be played in Philadelphia on May 1. The new schedule includes a game with the New York National League team to be played at the Poio Grounds next Tuesday and a five days' trip through the New England States. Since Dean street in Brooklyn has been asphalted all the way to Bedford avenue it has become one of the most popular cycling routes in the city. It is convenient not only for Brooklynites, but for New Yorkers, and Jerseymen who cross the Bridge or South Ferry find it the handiest way out to the Park, cycle paths and Merrick road. The street has, however, been sadly neglected, and the lower portion, below Fourth avenue where the asphalt oniginally was, is full of holes that show the cobblestones beneath and make pight riding along the street dangerous, especially for strangers who take the route for the first time under directions.

The colony of racing men who were training at Jacksonville, Fla., have left there and gone to Atlanta. Ga., where there is to be a reset on April 10. After that they will work North, stopping at Baltimore, and finally land at Philadelphia, where they will finish their training at Woodside Park.

The L. A. W. office in this city woke up yesterday and wrote to the league representatives at Albany for information concerning what is being done to amend the Doughty Automobile bill in the Senate, so that cycle paths will be protected from motor vehicles.

Charles M. Murphy, of mile-a-minute fame, is riding races on a home trainer with Tom Butler, the L. A. W. champlon of 1896, at a vaudeville theatre. The interest shown in seeing these two men perform is remarkable. On Wednesday night Murphy, who by the way, is using the same wheel on which he made his daring ride behind a train, invited a party of his griends to occupy a box. The race was for three miles and Murphy won it by a few yards in a minutes and 53 seconds. Not so bad for an old man after eighteen years of racing," Murphy remarked after the show. They use 104 gears, yet their legs fiv so fast that they look almost like a broad blur. In six races Murphy has won four times.

scrap with one of the Great Danes. It was a lively affair for a moment and no great during was done to either dog. Croker's built was being exercised about the alses when the Dane passed, dragging his keeper along at a end of a short leash. The dogs cought sight of each other at the same instant and with a foar they sprang at each other's throat. Rodney's projecting teeth found a hold in the Dane's coilar. The contastants were quickly separated. Frank Croker's built errier. SHAMROCK'S BIG SAIL SPREAD. Figuring on Dimensions Received, She Will Have 14,000 Square Feet of Canyas. The dimensions given of the sail plan of the new Shamrock have set yachtsmen thinking, and the more they think the more they are impressed with the idea that the boat Sir Thomas I ipton will bring here to race for the Cup is thoroughly up to date and will be dangerous. This will please all good yachtsmen, for they love to watch a closs contest, and all have been hoping that the Shamrock II. will be a great improvement on the old one. The pole mast of the new British yacht, according to cable despatches, is 148 feet long. The mast of Columbia in 1890 was 134 75 feet, and of the Shamrock I. 128 28 feet. The boom of the new Shamrock is to be 112 feet. The Columbia's measured 108 27 feet, and that of Shamrock I 1908 67, so that the mainsail of the challenger will have more hoist and will be longer on the foot than any yacht that has yet raced for the America's Cup. are impressed with the idea that the boat have more hoist and will be longer on the foot than any yacht that has yet raced for the America's Cup.

Forward of the mast George L. Watson, the designer, has made a big change. It will be remembered that the fore triangle of shamrock I was an enormous one, and Fife was criticised for having rigged his vacht as he did. The measurement from the forward side of the mast to the forward point of measurement of the Shamrock II. Was 79.46 feet, and on the Columbia 73.35 feet. On Shamrock II. the measurement of the base of the forward triangle will be 71 feet. The length from the after end of the main boom to the forward point of measurement on the bowspit of the Shamrock II. will be 184.5 feet. On the Columbia it was 181.62 feet, and on the Shamrock I. 18913.

The dimensions of the gaff of the new yacht are not known. If it exceeds 80 per cent of the length of the topmast such excess is added to the base line. For the sake of making a rough estimate of the sail spread of the challenger it may be assumed that the gaff is twelve feet more than 80 per cent of the length of the topmast. This will make her sail spread 14,941 square feet. The Columbia's was 18,135 square feet. The Columbia's was 18,135 square feet.

Boston, April 4.—The first 200 of the 800point pool match between Alfred De Oro, the former champion, and Grant Eby of Springfield, Ohio, for a side stake of $500, was played here to-night. De Oro led at the finish by a score of 204 to 194. The game overshadowed the exhibition in the world's championship tourney. Both men played a superb game. The Cuban gave up a good lead during the first lifteen frames, but in the next four Eby pocketed 55 out of the possible 60 and was fied with De Oro at the nineteenth frame. It was nip and tuck from that point to the finish. In the second from the last frame the score was 194 to 189 in favor of Eby. The latter made the break in the last frame, and the Cuban made a five-ball combination shot, spreading the balls and then "running" off the remaining fourteen.
